The aim of this conference is to serve as a call to action for our youth to make informed decisions regarding their health, wealth, and emotional well-being and to investigate their roles as servant leaders in their community. As such, participants will attend workshops aimed at equipping them with tools to promote healthy minds, bodies, and spirits and also increase their financial and educational well-being.

Due to limited space, this conference is limited to 100 attendees. Applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis, and the application deadline is October 1st.

While this conference is being offered at no charge to participants, each attendee (including parents) is ask to bring one children's book for the Hinesville Alumnae Chapter's Read Across America event for the children in the Liberty County and Pembroke service area.
